

FPMT and Chenrezig Institute - Homestudy Options

There are various options for homestudy of FPMT programmes offered at Chenrezig Institute.

1. Discovering Buddhism is offered for those who have an interest in learning about the Buddhist path according to our tradition. It is an intermediate-level programme in Buddhist philosophy and practice, with the aim to give you a solid foundation in the practice of Mahayana Buddhism. It consists of 14 modules covering all the major topics of Buddhism. Each module involves listening to teachings, reading related texts and doing short meditation retreats.

It is offered in house on a monthly basis at Chenrezig Institute and for those unable to attend in person FPMT offer both online and hardcopy homestudy options.

Investigate these here: <http://fpmt.org/education/programs/discovering-buddhism/>

Chenrezig Institute does not offer its own homestudy for Discovering Buddhism subjects

2. The Basic Programme - Designed by FPMT's spiritual director Lama Zopa Rinpoche, the Basic Programme is a comprehensive, practice-oriented transmission of the Buddhadharma for committed students who wish to progress beyond an intermediate level study and practice.

FPMT have set main subjects and Chenrezig Institute offers an additional 2 subjects to complement those.

Online study through FPMT

Full information about which of these subjects are available online from FPMT is available here: <http://fpmt.org/education/programs/basic-program/>

Chenrezig Institute Basic Programme Homestudy Packages

In addition Chenrezig Institute offers homestudy packages (data and audio files on dvd) of these subjects. These packages were prepared by senior students, from the second and third rounds of the programme (which is now in its fourth round at Chenrezig Institute) and include all materials provided for the inhouse students. A current list of these packages is available here:

(link to the current registration form for BP Homestudy)

Online study of current modules offered at Chenrezig Institute

Students unable to attend in person at the centre may wish to study current modules being offered at Chenrezig Institute online. All teachings, tutorials and written materials, ie transcripts, review questions charts etc are made available online to these students at 50% of the inhouse course fee.

For further information about any of these homestudy options please contact bsp@chenrezig.com.au